He Only Reported
on What He Saw
Newspaper Story

You aren't going to believe this but it is told as the gospel truth — A Hope couple who are regular movie fans decided one night they'd try the local drive-in, never having attended an open-air film show before. The next day the husband said:

"I don't think it will make the grade. Sound pictures are here to stay. People just won't turn out for silent movies."

"What do you mean, 'silent movies'?" a friend asked.

And then the truth came out. Husband and wife had sat through the whole drive-in show without jiggling up the individual speaker which brings the picture's sound into the car.

You think it's funny? You think it couldn't happen to you? Well, the fact is I've never been to a drive-in show myself and I didn't know until Eldon Coffman was escorting me around the local lay-out just before the season's opening this month that they used individual speakers and that the customer was supposed to hang it on his car window — if he expected to hear anything.

And technically our Hope husband was correct: Sound pictures are here to stay — and he was simply reporting on what he saw but didn't hear.

When you see typographical errors in this or any other newspaper I suggest you refer to the following explanation, which reached me in Southern Newspaper Publishers association bulletin this week:

Concerning Typographical Errors

We sympathize with the editor of a small town who was taken to task because of an error in his paper. He had this to say about it: "Yes, we know there were some errors in last week's paper. We will further agree that there were some errors in the issue of the week before, but before bawling us out too unmercifully about it, we want to call your attention to these facts . . . In an ordinary newspaper column there are 10,000 letters, and there are seven possible wrong positions for each letter, making 70,000 chances to make errors and several million chances for transpositions. There are 48 columns in this paper, so you can readily see the chances for mistakes. Did you know that in the sentence, 'To be or not to be' by transposition alone, 2,750,022 errors can be made? Now, aren't you sorry you got mad about that little mistake last week?"

Two Women Die, Five Injured in Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Two women were killed and five others injured — three seriously — in a 2-car collision on the outskirts of Little Rock early today.

Attendants at Arkansas Baptist Hospital here identified Mrs. Dixie Harris and Mrs. Doris Chase, about 32, both of Benton, as dead upon arrival at the hospital.

Injured and hospitalized at Baptist are Mrs. Mildred Perryman, 29, and Mrs. Alice Collins, both of Benton. Their conditions were reported by hospital attendants as "satisfactory."

In serious condition at St. Vincent's Infirmary here are Mrs. Katy Stiles, about 31, Benton; Mrs. Marie Harding, 31, Bauxite; and Mrs. I. H. Holloway, of Little Rock.

Hospital attendants said all but Mrs. Holloway were passengers in a car driven by Mrs. Chase. They were en route to work at the Westinghouse plant here.

The collision, state police said, occurred on Highway 70, just south of here.

Young Girl Injured in No. 4 Wreck

Early last night a truck-car collision on the Bodew Creek bridge, 12 miles out on Highway No. 4, resulted in one person being injured.

A car driven by Arliss Barton of Culver City, Calif., and a truck driven by James Ray Purdie, of Rosston, collided on the narrow bridge. Injured was Claude Jean Barton, aged 5. She was not believed to be badly hurt.

Investigating State Sergeant Milton Mosler said "Improper light" charges were filed against Purdie following the accident. Both vehicles were badly damaged.

Suggests Men Learn the Art of Staying 'Young' by Going to Beauty Parlors Regularly

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Ladies, you've learned the art of staying young and lovely. Maybe there'll be more money in the bank for you now if you see that the man in your life is well-dressed too.

I have always held that a gray-haired man looks distinguished, and a bald-headed geezer is a more romantic lover than a bou-doir full of these curly-haired young male stars whose skulls are as duff nuts and who have to paste beaver fuzz on their chests to look virile.

Ten million American baldies say I'm right. But my wife says I'm crazy. And Albert the noted hairdresser, who isn't any kin, just says I'm wrong.

Albert, who operates a kind of masculine Fifth Avenue charm school for the weary business tycoon, says it is high time for the average man to steal a bit from the household budget and start peacocking himself up a bit.

"This is important both in terms of life and money," he said. "The American wife keeps her youth in middle age. She is a gorgeous strawberry or silver blonde. But her husband is a gray shadow who looks at least 15 years older. She

Bohlen Almost Assured for Approval Today

By JOHN L. STEELE

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Homer E. Capehart announced today he will vote for Charles E. Bohlen to be ambassador to Russia because the "responsibility" for the appointment rests squarely with President Eisenhower.

It was the first time the Indiana Republican made known his position on the controversial nomination. He did so as the Senate began what was expected to be the final day of debate on the nomination. Senate Republican Leader Robert A. Taft expected the Senate to approve Bohlen by nightfall, with "only about a dozen votes against him."

The debate was played out before packed public galleries. Crowds lined three abreast, stretched half the length of the Capitol building seeking admittance to the Senate chamber. Some brought lunch baskets and planned to make a day of it.

Capehart's announcement was contained in a statement prepared for Senate delivery. He said he is "certain the President did reconsider" the Bohlen appointment in light of questions raised in senate debate.

Since Mr. Eisenhower is standing firm on his choice, Capehart said he will vote for Bohlen.

There were signs that the stormy debate had about run its course. Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) leader of the anti-Bohlen group, conceded defeat.

"I have no remote hopes of succeeding," he said.

Sen. Fulbright Leary of Reformed Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.) says there is no better way for a dedicated Communist to destroy unity in the United States than by renouncing Communism, joining the church and then denouncing higher ranking officials as Communists or fellow travelers.

This, Fulbright said, weakens the public's confidence in U. S. officials.

Fulbright, at a hearing of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee here yesterday, noted that Louis F. Budenz, former Communist, had often named many officials as Reds.

Budenz, onetime managing editor of the Daily Workers who renounced yesterday as a witness before the Committee.

However, Fulbright said he had no information at all about Budenz, either on his former connections with Communism or his renunciation of it.

Budenz, now an instructor at Fordham University, testified yesterday before the Government Operations Subcommittee headed by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

Trainmen Call Strike in Cleveland

CLEVELAND — The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen today called a strike of 2,300 trainmen and yardmen for 6 a. m. (EST) tomorrow against the Nickel Plate Road and its leased Wheeling and Lake Erie Railway.

The two roads operate over 2,192 miles in five states — Ohio, New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Indiana — have a total of 37,000 employees.

Heads of some 20 locals of the BRT received notice of the strike call last night, and a high brotherhood official expressed a belief it "undoubtedly" would come off as scheduled.

W. E. B. Chase of Detroit, international vice president, here to conduct nickel plate negotiations, said "the arbitrary attitude of management in dealing with grievances, time claims and working rules" caused the strike call.

These individual grievances involve "about 82 principles and hundreds of cases," Chase said, and have been under negotiation intermittently since last July.

Czechs Demand Return of Hijacked Plane

VIENNA, Austria, (UP) — Communist Czechoslovakia demanded today that the United States return a hijacked Czech airliner and the "terrorist" who flew it through the Iron Curtain last Monday.

Prague radio said the demand was delivered in Prague to U. S. ambassador George Wadsworth by Czech Deputy Foreign Minister Getrud Sekaninova. It said the aircraft and all but two of its 29 occupants must be returned to Prague immediately.

The "freedom flight" to Frankfurt in the American zone of Germany was engineered by the plane's pilot and three passengers asked for asylum after discovering they were in free Europe.

Prague radio said the Czech note demanded the return of "those who engineered the plot so that they can be punished according to Czechoslovak laws." It also asked for 2 others who have expressed a desire to return to Prague.

The broadcast made no mention of the two passengers who asked asylum along with the escape organizers.

Russian Planes Start Patrols in Far North

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — An armed three-man patrol which apparently originated on Russia's Big Diomed Island in the Bering Straits approached to within a mile and a quarter of American territory two weeks ago, a National Guard colonel has revealed.

The incident was reported last night by Col. Larry Johnson, adjutant of the Alaska Guard, who said the patrol was first sighted proceeding across the ice toward Little Diomed Island, owned by the United States.

Esquimo scout battalion members quickly scanned defense and lookout positions, Johnson said, and the trio returned to Big Diomed, three miles distant.

The Eskimos said that two of the men were wearing white uniforms and carried a submachine gun and rifle and the third, in dark clothing, was not visibly armed.

The incident, which occurred March 12, is the first such case reported.

England Is Combed for Sex Slayer

By HAL COOPER

LONDON (AP) — Police flying squads combed cheap rooming houses in this huge city today, seeking a sex sadist who hid the strangled corpses of four women in a grubby West Side flat.

A general warning was issued that the killer may strike again at any time.

Doctors who examined the bodies said the victims had been subjected to "uncontrollable outbursts of passion by the slayer."

Scotland Yard detectives described their quarry as a middle-aged man of abnormal sex tendencies who practiced sadism of "a peculiar type."

The last of the four bodies was identified yesterday as that of Mrs. Ethel Christie, 45, last seen by neighbors just before Christmas. She had lived in the murder flat for nearly 20 years with her 55-year-old husband, John, a trucking clerk.

Mrs. Christie's body was found Wednesday buried under the floor boards of the apartment dining room.

The day before, a prospective tenant of the flat had brought to light the partly-clothed bodies of three girls, jammed into a pantry niche walled up by several thicknesses of wallpaper.

The four women had been dead for periods ranging from five weeks to three months.

A nationwide search was on for Christie but Scotland Yard would say only, "It is believed he may be able to help police in their inquiries."

COFFEE PRICE WAR

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (UP) — A cup of instant coffee for one cent a day today in a price war with a competitor.

James Bost said his customers put up such a howl when he raised coffee to 10 cents that he went back to charging a nickel, and posted this sign:

"Okay, you win, our coffee price is going back to a nickel, but for good sakes buy something else too."

A competitor immediately offered two cups for a nickel, and Bost retallied by cutting his price to a penny.

Reds Could Be Testing Ammo Shortage

By OLEN CLEMENTS

TOKYO (AP) — The creeping Chinese Red offensive in Western Korea this week possibly was designed to determine whether there is an ammunition shortage in Korea, and to test Allied troops and commanders who recently replaced rotated fighting men.

Gen. James A. Van Fleet, former U. S. Eighth Army Commander, testified in Washington that an ammunition shortage existed most of the time he was in Korea.

Some officers here attribute the Communist attacks directly to the disclosure of that testimony. They speculate the Chinese are trying to find out whether the Allies have enough ammunition to carry them through heavy fighting. For that reason, some freely express resentment over Van Fleet's testimony.

The rear of Allied artillery fire and bombs may be giving the Reds their answer.

The Chinese snatched first at the U. S. Seventh Infantry — just after Maj. Gen. Arthur Trudeau replaced Maj. Gen. Wayne Smith as division commander.

The furious Red attack knocked the division off Old Baldy.

All Around the Town

By The Star Staff

Are you one of those suffering from "meat-titis"? It's pretty well accepted that meat meetings are held in Hope weekly than all the rest of the state put together. . . . hardly a day passes that some member of the family has to attend a conference of some sort or has to take the kids to scout meet, 4-H club, church supper, etc. . . . Several nights a week Hope fathers get into a good book only to have the wife rush in and scream "take me to a meeting" somewhere or the Junior's scout night. . . . Honestly that part isn't too bad but they tell you to pick them up at a certain time and 20 to 30 minutes after you arrive the meeting decides something is waiting and breaks up. . . . please just let those sessions stop on time.

Around the town all week it's been heard that local theater owners plan to completely close down the Rialto, operating only the Drive-In and the Saenger. . . . now it comes out officially that the Rialto will remain open only on Saturday and Sunday for the week and trade with two old theater buildings already "killed off." . . . seems Hope is in danger of becoming a city of empty theater buildings.

State Policeman Travis Ward, one of many local horse lovers, is nursing a couple of broken ribs and some mighty sore bruises in Branch Hospital today. . . . his horse threw him yesterday afternoon.

For the first time in a number of years the annual Union Easter Service will not be held outdoors, the local Ministerial Alliance has decided. . . . Instead the service will be held at the First Baptist Church starting at 9:30 a.m. although not criticizing this report or is sorry as there was something about those outdoor Easter services which I attended that will be lacking inside.

Milk prices go down a penny a quart in Little Rock Monday and housewives are wondering if they will drop here also. . . . the price in Hope was slashed three to four cents per quart only a few weeks ago. . . . Hope was paying that much more than surrounding towns but some good old competition forced that. . . . it will take a long time to offset the high rates of the past here.

Extended Forecast

Friday-Wednesday — Temperatures will average three to six degrees above normal with no decided day-to-day changes. Precipitation mostly moderate with show-ers about Monday or Tuesday.

Dispute Between the Pentagon and Van Fleet

AMMUNITION CONTROVERSY

(Editors Note: In 1951 Associated Press reporter, Don Whitehead won a Pulitzer Prize for his reporting of the slights and sounds and meanings of embattled Korea. Last year his stories about Korea revisited, based on his coverage of President Eisenhower's pre-inauguration trip to the front lines, won headlines and applause. Here, in the first behind-the-scenes account of the flaring dispute over ammunition shortages in Korea, Whitehead pinpoints the opposing views of the men charged with conduct of the war.)

By DON WHITEHEAD

WASHINGTON — The Van Fleet-Pentagon dispute over ammunition shortages and conduct of the Korean War threatens today to erupt into a bitter controversy reaching all the way up to the policy-makers of the Truman administration.

The authoritative story from several military sources is that:

1. Former Secretary of Defense Robert A. Lovett was prodded by Army chiefs for almost a year before he ordered all-out ammunition production last November.
2. The Joint Chiefs of Staff — at the State Department's request — instructed Gen. James A. Van Fleet in May, 1951, to launch no general offensive into North Korea without clearance from the joint chiefs. Van Fleet has said he was stopped by orders.
3. The Army, although it is combat effort in Korea to conform to diplomatic decisions.
4. No records have been found at the Pentagon to support Van Fleet's statement he was "trying to turn me loose to destroy the enemy in 1951" — or to show he asked for clearance to stage an offensive into North Korea.
5. Ammunition stocks in the Far East have now reached the point where Gen. Mark W. Clark's Far Eastern Command is trimming orders on future deliveries.
6. The Army is over-producing some ammunition items and would like to cut back their production — but there is fear a hold-down order now would cause another outcry.

These reports — from high officers who asked that their names not be used — came as a Senate armed services subcommittee prepared to open a public inquiry Wednesday into Van Fleet's claims that the U. S. Eighth Army was seriously and sometimes critically short of ammunition during all the Roberts.

Avenge Death Stand, Wipe Out 2,000 Troops

By GEORGE A. MARTHUR

SEOUL (Saturday) (AP) — Gen. U. S. Marines, receding from a surprise 3,500-man Chinese Red onslaught against 10 "outposts," last night regained one of the two Western Front hills where other Marines and died to the last man.

Recapture of bloody Vegas, one of two outposts, yielded in Thursday's Chinese human sea attack, came after 10 hours of fierce hand-to-hand combat.

The outpost hills are 25 miles southwest of Old Baldy, which the Reds seized in the first round of their spring drive earlier this week. The hills are just to the northwest of Bunker Hill, which also was hit in Friday's assaults.

Only 25 miles northwest of the Marine action, Red MIGs jets made their deepest penetration of the year before being taken on in sky battles by Australian twin-engine fighters. The Aussies claimed one MIG probably downed and another damaged in dogfights south of So-hung.

Earlier Friday there was another indication the Reds were trying to move their air arm closer to the front line. U. S. Marine pilots of propeller-driven planes said they damaged a MIG in an encounter near Chinnampo, the port for the Red Korean capital of Pyongyang.

A Marine regimental commander said the Chinese killed or captured every Leatherneck in small-bore fighting forces on Vegas and nearby. He said the Reds had seized the outpost, which 3,500 Red soldiers held for 10 hours in a surprise night attack.

The commander of the Fifth Marine Regiment said the Reds had taken the outpost (645 m. m. C-31) his Leathernecks were in firm control of Vegas. They had sent for supplies to dig in and rebuild the shattered outpost.

The First Marine Division troops secured the hill at 7:30 p.m. mopping up operations continued two hours more on the upper slopes.

The Marines reported they destroyed the effectiveness of from 12 to 15 Chinese companies — more than 2,000 troops — in the bloody hand-to-hand fighting.

The commander leading the Marine assault on Vegas messaged: "We were on the top, situation well in hand. The enemy has several attempts to reinforce and counterattack."

Withering Red machine gun fire had ripped at the Marine attack on their way up the slope. Marine tanks hammered at the Communist machine gun nests. Small arms exploding shells shrouded the outpost.

Col. L. W. Wall, a Marine regimental commander, disclosed the every Leatherneck on Vegas was Reno when the Red hill was presumed dead or captured.

U. S., France Agree on Indochina

By JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and France were reported to have agreed today on Indochina, European defense policy, but odds over plans for settling the future of the industrial area.

The French-American disagreement over Paris policy developed yesterday at President Eisenhower and top American officials in conferences with a visiting French government delegation headed by Premier Rene Mayer.

"The problem was due to be again today at four separate meetings, scheduled mainly to discuss France's continued need for aid in Europe and Indochina."

As the talks entered their second day, Mayer was said to be "Continued on Page Three"

Battleship Skipper Succumbs at 48

BASEBO, Japan (UP) — Capt. Warner Edsall, skipper of the battleship Missouri, died of a heart attack yesterday while bringing his ship into Basebo Naval Base, the Navy announced today.

Edsall would have been 49 next May 7.

The Navy said his death was caused by "cardiac failure." He was stricken on the bridge of the Missouri, which was entering Basebo harbor for rearmament after duty off northwestern Korea.

Edsall was born in St. Louis, Mo., and served in the U.S. Navy for 20 years.

The Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis reported sales for the week ended March 21 ranged from a 10 per cent increase in the Memphis area to an average increase of 31 per cent in several small districts.

In the four-week period ending March 21, sales for the district totaled 14 per cent above those in the comparable period of 1952.

Sales for the one week period included a 10 per cent increase in the St. Louis area, 17 per cent in Louisville, and 19 per cent in Little Rock.

Confession by Whipping Is Set Aside

MOBILE, Ala. (UP) — Henry Lee Brown, 18 year old Negro, was freed of murder charges today in the death of a young South Alabama mother after claiming he was beaten into confessing the crime.

A packed court room here cheered as the all-white jury returned its verdict of innocent after four hours' deliberation last night.

"I didn't kill that white lady," Brown testified in denying confession he allegedly made earlier to law officers. Defense attorneys claimed he was beaten and questioned around the clock for three days to make him confess.

Brown's attorneys, John McGee of Montgomery and Jack Sprinkle of Mobile, issued the following statement:

"It was a just verdict, one supported by the evidence. It proved that the citizens of Mobile County will give a Negro a fair trial even when he is charged with a crime against a white person."

The jubilant Brown told newsmen: "I am glad they found I was innocent. Thank the jury for giving me a fair trial. God be with them and bless them."

Supreme's Bub beat Diamond Ned, Curragh King, Cow Town, Mr. Mulnar and Wismo in the mile and a sixteenth Missouri Pacific Purse last Saturday.

Terrorists Kill 100 Pro-British

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Fierce Mau Mau terrorists massacred at least 100 pro-British Kikuyu tribesmen, their wives and children in a wild raid last night at a village almost on the outskirts of Kenya's capital.

They also attacked a police station about 40 miles away, killing five Africans and releasing all prisoners from jail.

The village attack was the biggest yet by the Mau Mau in its campaign of terror aimed at driving white men out of this agriculturally rich British crown colony in East Africa. In the past year the terrorists have murdered nearly 300 persons.

Last night's attacks followed a British crackdown last weekend which netted about 2,500 suspects. It was an apparent show of strength in the bitter struggle between primitive knife-wielding tribesmen and the white rulers of Kenya.

In both raids the attackers made their escape in trucks after seizing quantities of arms and ammunition.

Lari, a village 10 miles from Nairobi in the Kiambu reserve, was the scene of the big massacre.

about going to them.

"I will bet you that maybe one out of 25 men you meet today wear a toupee, or a piece of a toupee," he said. "You can wear a toupee and stand on your head with it on, go swimming, or take a shower. I have worn a toupee for four years myself, and my own mother hasn't noticed it."

Of course, Albert still has more hair of his own than he did when his mother first met him. You have to think of that.

Albert, an ebullient man with needle point moustaches, is an absolute enemy of gray hair.

"Who comes to me to get their hair tinted," he explained. "Wall Street brokers, cab drivers, a cement mixer, and TV stars. Thank heaven for TV. It has meant a lot to me."

But I tinted the hair of a truck driver who had been turned down for a job because he looked too old. He went right out and got another job at more than $85 a week. You know who else comes in to get their hair tinted? Many clergymen. It is important, they feel, that they don't look old and gray.

In Albert's employment an executive can dictate his mail and have it typed while he sends his suit out to be pressed and he himself gets a whirlpool bath for his aching legs, a manicure, a haircut and a tint job. He can also make long distance phone calls.

Life is really looking up for the tired business man, who now can come home and tell his wife, "Well, I certainly had a busy day at my beauty parlor. How do you like my new hair-do, by the way? It's the latest in town."

WASHINGTON, (UP)—Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla.), in a letter to his constituents, gave this report today on the Senate fight on Charles E. Bohlen's nomination as ambassador to Russia:

Yesterday to Today, Mrs. B. C. Hyatt played Debussy's "Clair de Lune" after which Mrs. Jack Wilson sang a solo "My Friend" by Malotte.

The following orchestral recordings were then heard:

"Play of the Waves" from the "Sea Suite" by Debussy; Nocturne No. 2, Festivals by Debussy; and "Concerto No. 2 in C Minor" by Rachmaninoff.

DOROTHY DIX

Teen-ager's Complaint

Dear Miss Dix: I am becoming very impatient with myself. At 15, I am still in grammar school and am not getting very good marks in my studies, even though I try my best. My parents say I don't try hard enough. They deprive me of many of the pleasures girls and boys my age are enjoying. I am not even allowed to go to school dances. I am not bad looking and would have a chance to go to them if my parents would permit me. I do see their side of the story, but I am doing the very best I can in school, and would enjoy a little fun outside.

CORA D.

Answer: Well, there's one thing I can say for you, Cora. You write a better letter, from the standpoint of spelling, appearance, and handwriting, than many of my readers who boast much higher mental attainments. While your school grades may not be high, there's nothing wrong with your general intelligence. Your talents probably lie in a different direction, and it behooves your parents to try to get them out. Perhaps you could be trained in some form of handicraft, or in domestic arts. Mother and Dad should talk to your teachers and the principal of your school to get an idea of your capabilities instead of denouncing you for low marks in the subjects you are forced to take.

I cannot agree with their stand of your social life, either. Depriving you of the normal pleasures of adolescence will not improve your scholarship. From the tone of your letter, I am sure you are trying 22 months he commanded it in Korea.

The Van Fleet statements had the forthcoming Senate inquiry have stirred the Pentagon perhaps more deeply than anything since the bitter debate touched off two years ago by Gen. Douglas MacArthur's ouster as Far East commander. Whole squads of officers and clerical help have grouped their usual chairs to prepare for the inquiry.

Even President Eisenhower got into the argument at his news conference yesterday when he told reporters the Korean ammunition situation now is perfectly sound in relation to the type of operations going on there.

This indicated Eisenhower was throwing the weight of his influence on the side of the Army chiefs who maintain the Eighth Army has enough ammunition to cope with any situation. Van Fleet has said the supply is not big enough to meet a Red offensive.

Lovett could not be reached immediately at his New York office for comment on the reports gathered at the Pentagon.

The former defense chief's name was first injected into the ammunition squabble by Van Fleet at a session with the Senate Armed Services Committee March 10.

In this hearing, Van Fleet read a letter, sent to him by Gen. Clark Lee Dec. 1, which said in part: "I have just received a personal letter from Secretary Lovett which contains the first firm indication that our ammunition supply situation is being initiated to orient production to meet your requirements. Mr. Lovett now advised the Army will now deal with the short rounds of ammunition problem as though we were under full mobilization and that the situation will be given sisting France must get general assurances she will continue, in effect, to dominate the Saar before she consents to join the proposed six-nation European army.

The Saar is a rich steel-producing area of 738 square miles, claimed by both France and Western Germany. After World War II, it was detached from Germany and integrated economically with France.

Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles made it known in two talks yesterday they did not have agreement on the Saar's future should be made a condition of French approval of the long delayed European army arrangement.

Whether this apparent conflict could be smoothed over before talks and tomorrow was not apparent.

American officials, however, are anxious to avoid any specific promise to France on this hot issue lest it jeopardize relations with Western Germany. Konrad Adenauer, West German chancellor, is expected here April 6 for talks with Eisenhower.

Average Arkansan Drinks Pint of Milk

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—If you are the average Arkansan, you drink only about half a pint of milk a day—and the state's milk producers are getting ready to do something about it.

Committees have been appointed to outline a state campaign to promote and educate Arkansans on the value of drinking milk.

Joe Hunslett of Conway, manager of the Central Arkansas Milk Producers Association, said Arkansas' per capita milk consumption is about half the national average.

us. We love to have them.

Answer: You have solved the major problems of getting along with families, so don't stub your toe on a small item. By all means visit your brother when you're invited; the room may be crowded, but hospitably certainly isn't cramped. As for taking something, if you have a particular talent for baking, you might contribute a cake, or a jar of homemade preserves, but don't try to give a major portion of the meal.

Dear Miss Dix: Would you please try to explain why folks sometimes think it's all right for fifteen and sixteen-year-olds to marry, when it is wrong. They should have a chance to enjoy life before settling down.

H. P.

Answer: You won't find many people approving marriages at this early age, although I recall a news paper item last week in which parents approved a marriage of a 12-year-old. It's an unwise course that's sternly frowned upon by almost everyone dealing with teenagers.

Little Acorns

Great Oaks from little acorns grow. Huge doors on small hinges turn, and unspeakable destruction from tiny bombs may come. The importance of little things depends on what's inside them. Moses' rod destroyed the power of Egypt; the jaw bone of an ass slew a thousand; a pebble killed Goliath, and an unknown mother's prayer turned a Prodigal Son into Saint Augustine.

Is your little acorn in a cradle? Feed and shelter that little body with utmost care. Teach it reverence for God and devotion to His church. Wesley, Luther, Peter the Hermit and Dr. Harvey Wiley, were once little acorns. Don't neglect your little acorn... God expects you to see it through. Your pastor and your church wait to help you.

Ammunition in Korea Plentiful Now

By JOHN W. FINNEY
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Army said today ammunition supplies in Korea are now so abundant that shipments originally destined for the Far East war zone are being diverted to other areas.

An official spokesman said the Korean ammunition situation has improved in the past few weeks to the point where "the stuff is running over."

The report came as a Senate Armed Service subcommittee prepared to open hearings next week into charges by Gen. James A. Van Fleet that there were serious and "critical" shortages of ammunition during the 22 months that he commanded the 8th Army in Korea.

Army officials declined to say whether the improved ammunition picture means that United Nations forces are now in a position to launch an offensive. But it was recalled that Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson told the Senate Armed Services Committee early in March that "soon... we shall have the amounts of (ammunition) necessary to give the field commanders considerable latitude in determining upon and supporting a more active type of operations."

The Army spokesman said the ammunition supply pipeline is now "filled up" all the way up to the Korean front lines. Because reserve dumps in the rear areas are overflowing the spokesman said, some shipments of ammunition consigned to Korea are now being diverted to other points.
